THE UFW HAS A FEW EMPTY BEDS TO FILL.

WITH EARLY RISERS.

If it seems like there's no jobs around or none worth doing, check this out.

The Farmworkers need you now.

This is a crucial year for us.

We need some together people to do some hard core organizing.

We need to spread the word about grapes, head lettuce and Gallo wines in the neighborhoods.

We need to tell folks that the boycott is still on.

On and working.

Working to help our people in the fields win the right to belong to the union of their choice.

The union they built. The United Farm Workers.

We'll give you room and board. Five bucks a week strikers' wages.

Even gas money for your car if you use it.

And we'll give you a chance to work with and for the most dedicated human beings you'll ever have a chance to meet.
